Zenith

Sustainability in Action:

Zenith products and process certifications align themselves with global industry-wide best practices. Each product or solution is designed and built with building environmental and sustainability and building occupant health in mind.

Having all relevant certifications, Zenith are able to independently verify environmental and sustainability standards, technical design and safety adherence, and all industry guidelines for procurement, manufacture, and supply of products.

Mekos:

Mekos is minimally designed whilst offering maximum strength and stability (tested to global standards), this means we only use what material is required to get the optimum performance.

Mekos is 95% recyclable at end of life. Mekos is not only recyclable at the end of life but also made of recycled materials from the beginning. Variations based on selected finishes and specifications can alter the products recyclable.

The Mekos range has been designed to be made locally in each region Zenith operates in. Meaning not only is it a highly sustainable product local manufacturing cuts its carbon foot print compared to comparable imported products within the market.

Certifications:

GECA Certified

GECA certification is a significant achievement, as the independent assessment looks at impacts across a product's entire lifecycle, from the extraction of raw materials to the end of its life. The third-party assessment procedures and robust standards mean that GECA certification is trusted and rigorous. GECA is also the only Australian member of the Global Ecolabelling Network (GEN).

GREENGUARD Certified

Mekos has achieved GREENGUARD and GREENGUARD Gold certifications. This means Mekos has met GREENGUARD standards for low emissions do not create polluted indoor air.

Material Content:

The intention of our calculations is to supply the most precise recycled content possible, however market variables and manufacturing processes may result in slightly reduced or slightly increased recycled material. All recycled content is based on statistics provided by suppliers, industry data and ranges, or other universal information. The below calculations & tables are based on a standard table sizes that exclude cable management & screen options and with a standard Particle Board Laminate top.
